35th Congressional District

Lloyd, Brutocao in race

By Peggy Olsen

Local voters are among the 464,185 residents of the 35th Congressional District who will go to the polls Tuesday to choose between Democratic incumbent Jim Lloyd and Republican Louis Brutocao.

Fifty-two per cent of the district's voters are registered Democrats while 43 per cent are registered Republicans.

The district stretches from Covina to Etiwanda.

Jim Lloyd

Lloyd lists credibility of government, tax reform and the budgetary process, jobs, national defense and energy among his major concerns.

Positions on issues such as abortion and ownership of hand guns "may win or lose" for a candidate, but are not major problems facing the American people, he contends.

"We need a return to a government of sunshine," he declared, adding "the key in this year's campaign is the credibility of government."

An advocate of full disclosure of assets by "all those who serve," Lloyd has volunteered to continue revealing his personal financial statements and income tax returns as long as he serves in Congress. In addition, he has signed the Code of Fair Campaign Practices.

Lloyd proposes that the operations of all congressional committees, with the exception of those in classified areas, should be conducted "out where the public can see."

"People want a restoration in the confidence of government... which has been broken down by the Watergate syndrome... and such persons as Wayne Hays and Earl Butz," he said.

Standing "foursquare behind a balanced budget commensurate with the dynamics of government," Lloyd predicted that "a balanced budget will be affected within two or three years."

To help businesses win a "fight against increased intervention by big government," Lloyd supports three concepts:

— Zero-based budgeting, "which simply means that you start from scratch each year by reviewing all spending programs;

— The Sunset Bill which calls for elimination of all bureaucratic agencies when they are no longer needed;

— An anti-paperwork bill which requires all federal agencies to pool information collected from small businesses.

Lloyd supported the Local Public Works Capital Development Act which provides $5 billion for local public works projects an 800,000 jobs. Reduction of unemployment by one per cent can save taxpayers $10-$15 billion, he maintains.

Lloyd, who has been successful in acquiring defense contracts for several 35th District firms, believes "the continued development of sophisticated weaponry is vital." He has supported the B-1 bomber, Triton submarine and development of new missiles.

"The failure of Congress to pass a synthetic fuels bill was a disaster," said Lloyd who noted his concern that "the American public doesn't fully realize the energy crisis which I believe to be a hand."

It is imperative, he contends, "that we shift the emphasis on oil to other forms of energy, including coal, solar, nuclear, geothermal, wave action and temperature gradient as rapidly as possible."

Lloyd said he is pleased he was successful in securing appropriations for the Cucamonga Creek Channel project where predecessors have failed. He also cited as achievements enlargement of Social Security offices in Pomona, procurement of $3.4 million in relief funds after last year's Mt. Baldy fire, and funds for the education of Vietnamese refugees.

Lloyd served in the U.S. Navy as an aviator during World War II and retired 21 years later as a lieutenant commander.

He holds a bachelor's degree in political science from Stanford University and a master's degree from the University of Southern California.

He established Lloyd's Public Relations and Advertising firm in West Covina and is a former mayor of that community.

Louis Brutocao

Republican Louis Brutocao said the most important issues facing the nation this year are excessive government spending and regulation, taxes, the power of labor union bosses, crime and unemployment.

Brutocao condemned excessive government regulation "and the counterproductivity of the bureaucrats who interfere, not only in the business climate and free enterprise, but with our personal lives."

A total of 40 per cent of the gross national product is required to operate government today, while the percentage was only 12 per cent in the 1930s, he said.

Brutocao said he is concerned about the waste of government spending at all levels. "More and more money in the form of taxes are constantly demanded to support inefficiencies," he declared.

Brutocao cited as examples some welfare programs which he would seek to eliminate. "Rising taxes are forcing many senior citizens and others on fixed incomes to lose homes or move to sub-standard housing," he said.

Labor union bosses have not served their membership, Brutocao declared. He criticized them for making loans from pension funds to organized crime and declared those monies should have been invested in American companies to enhance the free enterprise system.

If such investments had been made during the past 40 years, members of labor unions would have a voice in management as shareholders and could also share in profits through dividends, he said. "Members could then feel secure in contributing money to pension and vacation funds and apprentice programs."

Brutocao said he would establish "stiff penalties and mandatory sentencing into prison work camps as deterrents to crime." It is up to citizens to decide "whether we want to protect society and the victim or overprotect the criminal. I have always felt it is our duty to protect society and the victim of crimes," he said.

Brutocao said the key to full employment is expansion into the private sector. Necessary factors to achieve full employment, he said are a balanced budget, curtailment of government regulation, and tax incentives to small businesses which hire the unemployed.

Brutocao said the $3.9 billion Local Public Works Development Act, passed by Congress over President Ford's veto, could be better spent to provide a $3,600 tax credit to employers for each unemployed person given a job.

The public works bill, Brutocao charged, is "a band-aid solution to a deep seated problem." He opposes raising taxes to provide jobs.

Brutocao has issued position papers on such subjects as abortion, energy, employment and the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill. He challenged his opponent to issue similar reports. However, Lloyd said he has refused because "position papers are a way to avoid being knowledgeable."

Brutocao, a former mayor of Covina, graduated from Oakwood Collegiate Institute in Canada.

He has been involved in egg ranching, land development, construction and recreation facilities.

Two in judgeship run-off election

By Lynne Locke

West End voters will decide Tuesday between two candidates to fill a Superior Court judgeship left vacant by retiring Judge James E. Cunningham.

Attorney Charles Bierschbach of Redlands and Superior Court Commissioner Don Egan of Blue Jay received the highest number of votes of five candidates in the June primary and will face each other in a run-off election Tuesday.

Both candidates were invited to submit statements on the subjects of plea bargaining, repeat criminal offenders, crimes with guns, and other issues. Bierschbach did not submit a statement for either the primary election or the run-off election.

The main issue in the judicial race "boils down to judicial experience, impartiality and temperament," according to Egan, who has served as a juvenile court referee, superior court commissioner and judge pro tem for eight years dealing with both civil and criminal cases.

Egan said he is proud of his rating as one of the best judges and commissioners, as determined by the San Bernardino County Bar Association rating by deputy district attorneys, defense attorneys, and civil lawyers.

He has urged voters not to rely on posters and slogans but to talk to lawyers, law enforcement officers, court clerks, court reporters, or probation officers, who know both candidates and are aware of their qualifications for the position.

Plea bargaining
Egan "dislikes" plea bargaining, but said he recognizes it "as a necessary evil" since it would be physically impossible to try all felony cases that are filed.

"I cannot accept sentence bargaining," he said and added the judge should determine the sentence rather than leaving the sentence to be negotiated between judge, district attorney, defense attorney, and defendant.

Egan supports the recently enacted determinant sentencing law which provides definite sentences for convicted criminals, but added he believes sentences for some violent crimes should be longer.

The death sentence should be used "sparingly," he said and noted he supports use of a life sentence without parole. Under Egan's plan a criminal given a life sentence could be pardoned by the governor but not paroled.

QUESTION: Can you tell me if the Police Department will be holding a bicycle safety program at the schools? M.A.B.

ANSWER: On Oct. 11 the Upland Police Department, Service Division, began its annual pedestrian and bicycle safety programs which are conducted at each of the elementary and junior high schools in the city of Upland. The safety program presented to the kindergarten through sixth grade students stresses safe walking habits, caution around strangers, the hazards of construction areas, open fields and groves, with major emphasis on bicycle safety. The programs have been completed at seven schools so far, with about 3,000 students in attendance. The safety programs have been very well received by school principals, teachers and students.

QUESTION: Why does it take so long to have development plans returned? J.J.

ANSWER: The Engineering Department is feeling the impact of the accelerating rate of development. Five consulting firms have been employed to check development plans. Because these firms are all busy, and checking is not their first priority, the return time for plans has been increasing. All development plans are reviewed by either the city engineer or the assistant city engineer after being checked in order to insure full compliance with city standards and goals. This review is taking an increasing portion of the staff's day both because of the accelerated activity and because of additional problems associated with the development of land in the northerly portion of the city where there are increasing grading difficulties.

Two of the most established engineering firms in the area have notified the Engineering Department that they have too much development work to continue with plan checking at this time. These firms will continue to add to the amount of incoming plans to be checked and by their discontinuation of checking service reduce the Engineering Department's capacity to process plans. Finding replacement checkers is difficult because all established firms are very busy. Firms from other areas are unfamiliar with city standards and would thereby place additional load on the staff if they were employed to do checking. The fact that developers and engineers from other areas have undertaken projects in Upland is also slowing the machinery due to lack of familiarity with both standards and procedures.

QUESTION: Can you tell us the duties for the water utility inspector? M.S.

ANSWER: Upland's water utility inspector is Larry Deilley. Under general supervision he checks water utility construction plans and blueprints for conformance with city standards, inspects construction projects while in progress and upon completion to insure quality construction and compliance with plans and specifications; directs the stoppage of work when necessary to insure that construction is in accordance with plans and specifications; prepares reports on inspections conducted; prepare as-built drawings on completed projects; conducts inspections of water distribution systems, for compliance with cross connection control regulations; designs plans for sprinkler systems in public facilities; assists in the coordination of construction projects between contractors and the Water Department; investigates consumer complaints regarding water quality and pressure; may assist in the city's water utility, and carries out the functions of water utility operator on a relief basis.

Uplander selected to replace Mikesell

By DICK COOPER

Joseph Kamansky, a 62-year-old Upland Realtor, was named Monday to succeed Daniel Mikesell representing the second district on the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors.

Kamansky, apparently selected as a "compromise" candidate by the three supervisors making the appointment, was nominated Monday by Supervisor Robert O. Townsend of Chino. His nomination was approved by a unanimous vote, but without the vote of Supervisor Nancy Smith, who was absent for the selection proceedings last week due to illness and did not participate Monday.

The appointee will fill out the remaining two years left on the term of former Supervisor Daniel Mikesell, who resigned last month due to ill health and indirectly because of a movement to recall him.

Kamansky was among six finalists selected last week after interviews of 29 applicants for the supervisor's post. He was nominated as a finalist by Townsend, who also nominated former Ontario Councilman Gustavo Ramos Jr.

In interviews after the selection of Kamansky, the supervisors said they had not all agreed on the choice of Kamansky. But since three votes were needed to approve a successor to Mikesell, the supervisors had to find a candidate most agreeable to all of them — and Kamansky was the man.

Supervisors' Chairman Dennis Hansberger said he called Townsend and Supervisor James Mayfield over the weekend to determine if there was a consensus. He found there was not.

"Until this very moment, I was not sure if there was a consensus," Hansberger said shortly after Townsend made his nomination.

"Sure he's a compromise," Hansberger later said of Kamansky. "Anyone would have been a compromise."

Townsend labeled the selection of Kamansky a "composite choice," stating the Upland Realtor on the whole was rated higher by the board than any of the other five finalists.

Hansberger and Mayfield said Kamansky was within their top three choices for the job and Townsend said Kamansky was within his top two. Other finalists besides Kamansky were Ramos, Upland Councilman John McCarthy, John Bratta, Ann Ivey and Dennis Stout.

Hansberger indicated he had some concern about Kamansky's age and the fact that he is a Realtor.

"I was nearly persuaded against him because he was a Realtor — it might present some potential for conflict of interest," Hansberger said, but added that would be something Kamansky would have to work out himself.

Kamansky told The Daily Report Monday night in a telephone interview that "my promise is that I'm going to ice my (real estate) license and get off the realty board."

But Kamansky indicated his wife, who owns Kamansky Realtors in Upland, would not be going out of real estate "at this point in time."

"I can't ask my wife to give up a business that she's taken 20 years to build up," Kamansky said. "It just wouldn't be fair."

Hansberger said Kamansky struck him as an "independent" candidate and Townsend said Kamansky's experience in business was "one unique characteristic" he had apart from the other finalists.

Letters of support submitted with Kamansky's application for the board of supervisor's post indicate the new supervisor was backed mainly by local businessmen.

Letters were received from A.O. Arnold, president of the First National Bank in Ontario; Jack Car-nine, division manager of Sunlight in Ontario and a member of the Chaffey school board; William Rugg, owner of Rugg Lumber in Upland and a member of the Upland school board; Gene Alair of Pittenger-Alair Insurance in Ontario; Randy Bond of Southern California Edison, and Edmund J. Vadnais, a general contractor.

Two letters from 12 local dairymen were received, as well as letters from former Ontario Councilman Joe Aime, former Chief County Administrative Officer Harold "Tony" Zenz, Dr. Joseph Powers and Donald Deal, general director of the Ontario YMCA, with which Kamansky has been actively involved.

Kamansky indicated he wants to be a spokesman for business and industry on the board of supervisors.

"I've always thought we should have more people from private enterprise in public office," Kamansky stated when asked his main reason for seeking the supervisor's job. "It's time for private enterprise to get into government and slow some things down."

Kamansky also remarked, though, that among the prospective candidates he was the "one person that could represent the whole second district."

He cited his experience working on the United Way budget committee, which he said consists of men and women of different ethnic backgrounds and income levels.

"Some of my best friends have been Spanish-Americans," he related.

"I recognize the poor person's troubles just as much as those of others," he said at another point. "And I'm not going to work against the senior citizens."

Kamansky was questioned by reporters about several issues, notably growth in the tri-counties and Expo 81.

"I'm for progress," Kamansky said.

"I'm for growth properly handled with proper planning and zoning."

Kamansky noted that industry is moving rapidly into the Cucamonga area because of the good freeway access and the proximity to Ontario International Airport.

"With commerce and industry comes people and with people comes the need for schools and housing," he said. "How do you slow up the growth?"

Regarding Expo 81, Kamansky remarked, "I'm for the concept if it can be financed properly and if the people behind it can come out with a common thought."

He referred to an article in the Los Angeles Times last week that revealed contradictions in the way the Expo 81 promoters were representing the fair. Kamansky said the fair's organizers should keep local government here better informed about the Expo plans.

"I'd want to know more about what's going on than we know now," Kamansky related.

Kamansky, who will be sworn in Nov. 8, was asked whether he would run for the office in 1978.

"You bet," he replied.

Kamansky said he does not consider his age a hindrance to his holding the supervisor's post — "I'm 62 going on 50" — and related that he has recently been given a clean bill of health by his doctor.

Kamansky indicated he would have run for the supervisor's job if the recall effort had forced a recall election of Mikesell. In a recall election, there is a slate of candidates running in the event an officeholder is removed.

"I was not personally in favor of the recall," Kamansky said, but added that he would have been a candidate.

Prior to the selection of Kamansky, there was speculation that Mikesell might have a hand in the selection of his successor. Kamansky said Mikesell had not backed his candidacy.

"He didn't offer his support and I didn't ask for it," Kamansky said. He added that "it was a common thought" that Mikesell was supporting someone else for the job.

Mikesell, reached by phone Monday after he had returned from a four-day trip to the mountains, said he had expressed no preference other than "I probably did make the observation that there were five or six on that list (the initial list of 29) that would make good candidates." He said Kamansky was among the five or six candidates he felt were qualified for the job.

"I am pleased that Joe made it," Mikesell said, adding that "I think I could have lived with one or two of the others."

Mikesell related that backers of three or four candidates, including backers of Kamansky, had approached him asking for advice.

"The only advice I gave them was not to lobby for the job," the former supervisor said.

Mikesell indicated he thought the selection would come down to a decision by the board to choose Kamansky or John McCarthy.

McCarthy stated after the selection that it is "awfully premature" for him to say whether he would run for the supervisor's post in two years.

"I've known Mr. Kamansky for many years. I'd hope he would do a good job. That would be a deciding factor in what I decide to do," McCarthy said.

Most observers thought McCarthy was the odds-on favorite for the job because of his experience as an Upland councilman, and McCarthy indicated Monday he thought the supervisors might pick someone with a public background.

Ramos remarked that "I think they made a choice of someone without a background in government."

Ramos related that his candidacy in two years "may be a possibility ... after all I've put into this."

Kamansky said Monday that he will begin acquainting himself with the county job prior to his being sworn in as supervisor on Nov. 8.

Kamansky, a life-long resident of the Ontario-Upland area, farmed in south Ontario and ran a service station in downtown Ontario before joining his wife's business as a real estate associate and office manager in 1962.

He has been active in the Ontario-Upland-Chino Board of Realtors and has served on statewide Realtors' committees. Kamansky is also a member of the board of directors of the Pioneer Mortgage Co. in Upland.

Kamansky has been involved in a variety of civic activities, serving on the board of the YMCA for 26 years and on the United Way budget committee for 16 years. Kamansky belongs to four chambers of commerce in the West End, as well as belonging to the Friends of the Ontario International Airport.

He is a member of the Upland Kiwanis Club and the Ontario Elks Club.

Kamansky has supported youth sports programs in the West End and was given the Kiwanis "Service to Youth" award in 1975.

Kamansky was also awarded the 1976 Bicentennial Award for Humanitarianism by the City of Upland.

United Way nearing midpoint of campaign

At a recent mid-way report luncheon held at the Arbor Restaurant in Upland, it was announced that the West End United Way campaign has collected 44 per cent of this year's goal.

Division reports were given by chairmen, and the amounts totalled approximately $252,784 of the goal of $576,550. The official deadline of the campaign is Nov. 17.

The business meeting was opened by Dr. T. Stanley Warburton, chairman of the fund drive. He thanked the workers for their efforts and told them that the "enthusiasm of this group is what makes the United Way fun." He closed by citing the United Way theme: "Thanks to you, it's working."

Beginning the campaign division reports for the afternoon was Division E (out-of-area firms), Warburton as chairman. Reported was $33,132, or 34 per cent of the division goal. Division CFC (combined federal campaign, post offices, and federal employees) reported $2,651, or 92 per cent of its goal. Jerry Yocom and Charles Linck are co-chairmen.

Emma Dagan, chairman of Division G (residential, building and construction, hotels, clubs, restaurants, transportation and real estate) reported $12,266, or 54 per cent of her division's goal. Division F (all professions) headed by Jackie Jeffreys-Schessler, reported $8,640, or 64 per cent of the goal.

Also reporting was Division D (firms not participating with employee campaigns, individual businesses, finance companies and agencies) under the direction of Randy Bond. To date, $6,144 has been raised, or 46 per cent of the division goal. Division C (firms employing up to 49 persons) is chaired by Ken Wright and reports $10,731, or 34 per cent of the goal.

Division B (firms employing 50 to 249 persons) chairman is Joe Aldern. A collection of $54,079 has been made to date, which is 42 per cent of the division goal. Dick Verrue, heading Division A (large business firms) reported $121,791, or 43 per cent of the goal.

It was announced that General Electric has donated the services of seven account executives to the United Way drive. They are: Tom Hopp, Tony Nicola, Ralph Schlieder, Jim Czarnomski, Bill Foster, Lou Cattie and Roger Cummings.

Several organizations received recognition during the meeting for their contributions to the United Way. Safetrans Systems Corp. of Cucamonga was recognized for its 32.7 per cent increase in pledge amounts over last year.

Also receiving special recognition was George Reyes of Freightliner Corp. The firm's employees have pledged $12,994, which will be matched by the company for a contribution of close to $26,000, it was announced.

Lockheed Aeronautics presented Warburton a check for $18,500 during the meeting. Also to be given is a $10,000 corporate pledge, the group was told. This represents a 2 per cent increase over last year, with fewer employees.

Armstrong Nurseries of Ontario donated several plants to be given as door prizes at the conclusion of the luncheon, which hosted approximately 60 persons involved in the area United Way drive.

Presenting a check for $18,500 to the West End United Way drive from Lockheed Aeronautics employees are Mel Hostetter, left, of Local Lodge 821, International Aeronautics Machinists, and Bob Tolleson, right, of Local 821 negotiating committee. Receiving the check is Dr. T. Stanley Warburton, center, chairman of the 1976-77 fund drive. Lockheed's donation last year was $18,200, from a total employment of 1,039. This year's contribution is a $300 increase, with a decreased employment to 948. There are 755 Lockheed employees participating this year; a total percentage of 79.6.

J. Peters of Safetrans Systems Corp.; George Reyes of Freightliners Corp. and Lonnie Cos of Montgomery Ward personnel department. Alice Pendleton of General Electric Aviation Service Operation is at center.

Charity expands appeal

"New" professionals will be the aim of a campaign soon to be launched by Jackie Jeffreys-Schessler, chairman of Division F, in the West End United Way drive for 1976-77.

In regard to the amount raised from professionals in the past, Mrs. Jeffreys-Schessler said "there is much more that should be raised."

The expansion of the division includes professionals not recognized in past years, such as cosmetologists, bookkeepers, pharmacists, interior decorators and laboratory personnel. These professionals "are important in our communities, and are important to the United Way," she said.

Also to be included in the campaign are the supportive personnel of the professional offices, such as medical or legal assistants.

In past mailings of Division F, less than 500 professionals were contacted. Next week Mrs. Jeffreys-Schessler will mail to more than 2,000 new contacts.

This broadened definition of professionals was her idea, and is an effort to increase the average amount given by this group, which in the past was $28 per professional. "We hope to double last year's amount, including adding the new people," she said.

Mrs. Jeffreys-Schessler, who resides in Ontario, is director of physical therapy with Ontario Community Hospital.

She is the founding president of the Ontario-Upland Meals on Wheels and a member of the board of directors of the Price Foundation.

Political Forum

Endorsement

Local Republican assembly candidate Clyde Stephens has received the endorsement of former Gov. Ronald Reagan, the Stephens campaign committee announced. "I am overwhelmed by the outpouring of support from a man of the stature of Gov. Reagan," Stephens stated. Stephens is running against Democrat Bill McVittie in the 65th Assembly District.

Expenditures criticized

Republican assembly candidate Clyde Stephens, speaking before a group of local homeowners, recently criticized spending by local state legislators. "It cost more than $1 million to support San Bernardino County's seven state legislators and their staffs, and pay for their leased cars, telephone bills and other expenses during the year that ended last Nov. 30," Stephens stated. "My opponent had expenses of $102,956.85, and that did not even include his salary," he remarked. Stephens is running against incumbent Democrat Bill McVittie.

Quarterback

Los Angeles Rams quarterback Pat Haden will be the featured speaker at a party in Covina Thursday for Republican congressional nominee Louis Brutocao. The party, open to the public, will take place at 6:30 p.m. at the Covina Bowl, with dinner being served at 7:30. Tickets are $15 and may be paid for at the door. Brutocao is running against Democratic incumbent Jim Lloyd in the 35th Congressional District.

Assembly race

Tammy Wolfenbarger, the Republican nominee in the 66th Assembly District, has received the endorsement of the Gun Owners of California. The announcement of the endorsement was made by Willis E. Laney Jr., executive director of the organization, which has 100,000 members. Mrs. Wolfenbarger is running against Democratic incumbent Terry Goggin.

Lawmen's groups endorse McVittie

Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist., has been endorsed for reelection by three state law enforcement organizations. McVittie has been endorsed by the Peace Officers Research Association, the California Association of Highway Patrolmen and the California Organization of Police and Sheriffs. McVittie is running for a second term in the state legislature and is opposed by Republican Clyde Stephens of Pomona.

Stephens hits foe's 'smokescreen'

Clyde Stephens, Republican nominee in the 65th Assembly District, has accused his opponent Bill McVittie of trying to create a "smokescreen" regarding the probation subsidy program. "Over two years ago, I received statistics from Sen. H.L. Richardson's office proving that this program was a complete failure," Stephens told the Ontario Chamber of Commerce. "McVittie has done nothing about this until his recent request for an audit of the program." "It is my contention that all he is doing now is creating a 'smokescreen' to confuse the voters, and I think that is dishonest," Stephens remarked.

superintendent of Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park, which sponsored Miss Arredondo in the pageant. Mrs. DeWald is her modeling coach. Miss Arredondo will next compete in the Teenage Liberty USA Pageant.

Health News...

TOO MANY 'UPS' CAN CAUSE ONE BIG 'DOWN'

By DR. W. P. HELZER, D.C.

For some time now, I have maintained that too many Americans are literally dying from over-tranquilized lives. You show me a case where a seemingly young, healthy person dies suddenly from mysterious causes and I think we'll eventually discover that heart damage due to tranquilizers was the culprit.

In this respect, it is interesting to note that recently an item was carried in a paper headlined "Tranquilizers Called Heart Defect Cause." The article stated that "curious defects inside the heart apparently are the reason some people die suddenly." It went on to note that the heavy use of tranquilizers is the suspected cause of heart damage.

The source for the article was a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association, written by a team of physicians.

You must understand that tranquilizers can well cause heart lesions by blocking the action of chemicals from the adrenal glands.

I am pleased to note that my colleagues in the medical profession had concluded much the same in their research project. What does this all mean to the average individual?

Chronic stress is a real and distinct problem suffered by many, many people, particularly those who lead a fast pace in family, business or social circles. However, they cannot constantly 'slow down the pace' artificially. This stress has a cause and must be treated at its source. Nervous tension due to stress cannot be whisked away with a pill. It is a matter that must be dealt with at its origin: an improperly functioning system.

Frankly, persons who carry on a fast pace... who have ups and downs...who can go-go-go...and then become exhausted...who have trouble getting started and then can't quit...should seek treatment rather than that little plastic coated 'treat'.

In other words, if you have to kill yourself, at least keep your body healthfully alive.

The program involves the sharing of cost data submitted by nearly 3,000 hospitals which compare their own cost control effectiveness with other hospitals of similar size both within their own geographic area and nationally.

"We found the comparative cost information provided by the program to be an excellent management tool in evaluating our cost containment efforts," said John L. Towers, administrator.

"By keeping abreast of costs of other hospitals, we are better able to measure the efficiency of our present operations, and to adjust our own procedures accordingly," he said.

Based on the independent American Hospital Association Comparison, the cost of patient care at San Antonio Community Hospital is less than comparable hospitals in Southern California, according to a hospital representative.

San Antonio Community Hospital has participated in the American Hospital Association-sponsored program since July 1969.

A Woman Ought to Know

Construction work?

Dear Anita,
My mother is now a "sweet old lady," but during World War II she was a welder. I'm a clerical worker, but I'd like to be a construction worker like my mother. What are the chances in the economy today?

J.M., Burbank
Dear J.M.,
Good for your mother. During World War II nobody asked whether it was "unfeminine" to do construction work. It had to be done so women did it. It won't be easy for you to get in, but the effort will pay off — in money and other rewards. Unions are paying skilled crafts workers three times the beginning pay of a clerical person.
Many women find construction work less tedious than office jobs. They sense a lot of satisfaction in seeing a structure go up that they helped build.

Modern technology has brought nearly all construction jobs within the capability of women, and anti-discrimination laws enforced by the federal government are breaking down barriers. The U.S. Department of Interior increased its women workers on the trans-Alaska pipeline from 21 to 1,702.

In California, women apprentices have increased from 31 to 267. CETA in San Diego, working with the Center for Women's Studies and Services, trained about 40 women as shipyard welders.

The commission has worked with the California Division of Apprenticeship Standards to help women move into apprenticeship programs. You can contact your local Joint Apprenticeship Council for information on your locality, write to the California Division of Apprenticeship Standards, 455 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, CA 94101, for a complete list of councils. It's certainly worth a try.
Anita Miller

Dear Anita,
I do men's tailoring for a department store chain with several other men and women. I suspect the men get higher pay. How can I find out if I am being discriminated against?
W.R., Bakersfield

Dear W.R.,
Try to find out the pay scales. Perhaps the other women can help you. There is good reason for all of you to find out if you are being paid equally, since a new law sponsored by the Commission on the Status of Women goes into effect in January 1977 with tough enforcement provisions.

Under the new law, such factors as differences in ability or skill, in hours of work, differences in duties performed, and lifting and moving restrictions on specified weights will no longer allow employers to exclude women (or men) from occupations or to pay them less on the basis of sex.

The new law will help establish whether discrimination exists by providing that every employer maintain records of the wages and wage rates of his employees for two years.

If, from the information you gather, you think you have legitimate grounds for a complaint, contact your regional Division of Labor Standards Enforcement. The division must establish the validity of your complaint. It can keep your identity confidential unless an investigation requires that you be named. If your complaint is legitimate, the division can bring civil action requiring that you and other employees in your position recover unpaid wages.

If your company operates outside California, you can get help from the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Regional Office, 300 Montgomery, San Francisco.

Let your fellow employees know that equal work for equal pay is the law.
Anita Miller

Dear Anita,
I'm job-hunting. And in spite of all the talk about affirmative action, I'm sure I'm facing double discrimination — as a woman and as a Chicana. Can you give me some guidance in overcoming these barriers?
A.C., Oakland

Dear A.C.,
You may be unaware of some of the basic techniques used by the majority groups to get jobs. Women and minorities often enter the job market unprepared because the "mentor system" which works for others isn't available to them.

But you can learn successful techniques. Many schools, colleges and organizations in the bay area offer such counseling and training. For instance, in your area Advocates For Women located in Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco, will counsel you on basics such as resume writing and effective interviews.

You can learn how to assess your own potential, what kind of job will satisfy you, how to seek it out, how to be interviewed successfully.

As we all know, people who get good jobs in today's tight job market don't get them by accident. Minority women need to prepare themselves carefully to land satisfactory jobs. That careful preparation is worth it. The work you do should give your life purpose and meaning as well as a meal ticket.

The California Commission on the Status of Women is scheduling several workshops this fall especially to help minority women overcome employment barriers. Write to the commission for further information and let us know your particular job problem.

Other women find this training a useful first step. I hope you will take it.

ASIAN HEADDRESS BALL — Richard Petterson, director emeritus of Clark Museum at Scripps College, shows emperor's throne decorations to Alice Yee of Upland and her daughter Tammy. The authentic emperor's throne will be the focal point for the Asian Headdress Ball Nov. 5 at the Los Angeles Biltmore Hotel. The ball will include a nine-course Chinese banquet as well as modeling of antique costumes and floral and fashion headdresses. Proceeds from the ball, sponsored by the San Gabriel Valley Chinese Cultural Association and the Orange County Chinese Cultural Club, will support the new Chinatown Senior Citizens Service Center in Los Angeles as well as youth and cultural activities. Ellian Lay of Walnut is one of the event coordinators. Reservation deadline is Saturday. For information call (714) 985-8150 or (714) 595-8920.

Halloween Haunt is coming to Knott's

BUENA PARK — Knott's Berry Farm will be eerily transformed to "Knott's Scary Farm" during the amusement park's fourth annual "Halloween Haunt" to be held Oct. 28 to Oct. 31.

The Old West Ghost Town will become a gruesome scene, with a cavalcade of Halloween monsters and goblins and cobweb "face-drops" which will age the area a thousand years. The Roaring 20's will be the Gory 20's, with sights and sounds geared to frighten the heartiest goblin watcher. And Fiesta Village will become Fiesta de Fiends: a home for spirits, skeletons and scares galore. Adding horrifying dimensions to the Scary Farm will be the Haunted Mine Ride, Terror Mountain (Knott's Log Ride), Trail of the Tortured (Haunted Shack) and the Transylvania Express (train ride).

Nightmarish effects with fog machines, strobe lights and stormy sounds will dominate the park's popular rides in all three areas at Knott's. The Motorcycle Chase and Gasoline Alley will resemble a hair-raising Sleepy Hollow and headless horsemen will roam the stagecoach paths.

The spine-tingling four-day event will be highlighted by a free drawing for a 1959 black Cadillac Hearse. The macabre machine features a maroon velvet and gray leather interior, with a very long wheel base and a V-8 engine.

Another spooky happening will be the appearance of radio, television and film star, Wolfman Jack, who will present his "Shock and Rock Revue" in Knott's Good Time Theatre. The raspy-voiced celebrity will perform nightly during the entire Haunt.

Cloud Nine in the Gory 20's will be transformed into a haunting place, where angels fear to tread, and where spine-chilling reenactments of horror stories will be performed by actors. In the Wagon Camp, there'll be a "Creature Feature" and monstrously fun dancing will take place in Fiesta Plaza and the Airfield Eatery.

Bewitching fireworks will offer a spook-tacular spectacle against the black sky over Fiesta Island, and the Starlight Pavilion will be the scene for Dr. Frankenstein's awesome operation.

"Halloween Haunt" will be held Oct. 28 (Thursday) from 7 p.m. until midnight; Oct. 29 and 30 (Friday and Saturday) from 7 p.m. until 1 a.m. and Oct. 31 (Sunday) from 7 p.m. until midnight.

RIVERSIDE — "Celebration," one of the more engaging and innovative musicals of the past decade, will open the 1976-77 theatre season at the University of California, Riverside. It will play Nov. 5, 6, 11, 12 and 13 in University Theatre, beginning at 8:15 p.m.

It took Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt eight years of intermittent work to write "Celebration." Best known for their highly-acclaimed "The Fantasticks," they have attempted with this play to produce a musical fable that is not only unusual in its subject but also in its form.

"Celebration" revolves around the life cycle. Opposites are explored — light and dark, summer and winter, regeneration and decay. Ritual is the means by which the life cycle is worked out.

The highly melodic songs — characteristic of Schmidt's music — are integrated with the dialogue unlike the "typical" musical, with characters introduced in song. Vocalists will be accompanied by a musical combo.

Director Eric Barr, a UCR faculty member, intends to build upon the originality of the play. A specialist in mime who last spring starred in an original one-man show at UCR, Barr will incorporate mime techniques in the production.

Potemkin, a sort of master of ceremonies, will be played by Anne Phillips, a second-year graduate acting student from Cheyenne, Wyo. Juniors Michael Elich of San Jose and Frank Ciraci of Canton, Ohio, will play Orphan and Mr. Rich, respectively. They represent the two opposing forces of good and evil. Dianna Lee, a junior from Rialto, plays Angel, who is caught between Orphan and Rich.

The remainder of the cast plays the Revelers, a type of updated Greek chorus, including DeVina Barajas from San Jose, Evan Brown, Terri Fisher and Pam Harding from Riverside, and Brett Hirschi from Rancho from Apple Valley, Robin Lin Pollock from Poway and Dristina Shosted from Thousand Oaks.

California. Also, Deborah Inge from Rialto, John Keepers from Pomona, Robert Lonsinger

Irish marked first Halloween

Halloween — Sunday, Oct. 31, this year — means the evening before All Hallows or All Saints' Day. While the holiday was marked in scattered Irish Catholic communities, it only became nationally popular here following the huge influx of Irish immigrants in the 1840's.

'Charlie Brown' to be given at Cal Poly

Young people of the area will have an opportunity to meet Charlie Brown and his friends of the comic strip, "Peanuts" in the Cal Poly Drama Department children's production of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" by Charles M. Schulz, to be presented at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 6; and 11 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays on Nov. 2, 4, and 9, at Cal Poly University Theatre, 3801 W. Temple Ave., Pomona.

Charlie Brown, captain of the baseball team which has lost 999 consecutive games, a never-stop-trying perpetual loser, is here along with the self-assured Lucy bemoaning her "crabbiness quotient," the blanket-clutching Linus, the earnest piano player Schroeder, the blithely uncomplicated Patty and the fantasy-prone dog Snoopy, lying pensively atop his dog-house, dreaming swoon-buckling dreams of hunting jungle animals and fighting enemy airmen.

The musical comedy version of the enormously popular strip has been especially adapted into an hour-long show for junior-high and elementary school audiences. The Cal Poly production features dancing and songs which include the ode of Linus, "My Blanket and Me," Snoopy's report on his battles with his arch-enemy, The Red Baron, and the show-stoppers, "Happiness" and "Supper Time," in which Snoopy churlishly berates his owners for delaying his evening dish of food and goes into a deliciously wild song and dance when it arrives — cavorting so joyously that Charlie has to urge him to eat.

The cast includes Rick Barton of Walnut, Kevin McDonald and Lew Crouse of La Puente, Mike Beddoe of San Diego, Jeanine Lambeth of Covina, and Laurie Borchardt of Baldwin Park.

Clean the garden up

The fall season is evident in most California gardens with colorful berries and falling leaves signaling the close of the long summer months. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that cleaning the garden each fall can make the difference between a fine garden and an average one.

The removal of leaves and other debris from garden beds will eliminate the breeding and hibernating places for overwintering pests. This should be a continuing procedure during the time that leaves are falling or annuals are fading. Fallen leaves should be raked from lawns and ground covers to avoid smothering the undergrowth during the wet season.

Faded annuals should be removed as soon as their usefulness is ended. Don't wait to remove them with the idea that you'll plant blooming annuals later on in their place. Winter blooming annuals should be set out now so their root systems can develop before cold winter weather.

They will report on their suit against the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, following their arrest while picketing for the United Farm Workers. Church school classes for children will be held at the same time. Nursery care will be available.

Christian Science

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Bible Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science churches in Ontario, Pomona, Claremont, Covina and Glendora Sunday. The Bible Lesson-Sermon consists of citations from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. The Ontario church holds Sunday services at 10 a.m. at 1429 N. Euclid Ave. with Sunday school for those up to age 20 at the same hour. Child care is provided for those too young for Sunday school.

Church of the Brethren

The Sixth Beatitude, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God," will be the theme for a folk worship 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the La Verne Church of the Brethren. The service will include gospel hymns with Dena Carper accompanying on the piano. Mark Waters will offer an original song. The sanctuary choir will sing "The Beatitudes" and "The Master's Touch." A newly formed youth choir will make its debut with Steve Engle directing. Commentary on the theme will be interspersed with the music. Guitars, other instruments and group singing will be featured.

The annual stewardship campaign will begin Sunday. Members are asked to call the church to make pledges of their financial commitments for the year. The "You Call Us" dates will be Oct. 31-Nov. 7. Dedication Sunday will be Nov. 21.

Montclair Baptist

The Rev. Melvin Bittner will bring some of France back home with him during a short furlough. His family will be traveling with a group of 24 French adults and young people and introducing them to American churches. Bittner will share his work with youth evangelism and church planting as a missionary to France when he speaks 9:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Montclair, 5150 Palo Verde.

Bittner started his ministry in Bry-sur-Marne, a Paris suburb, three years ago. He used films, speakers and musical groups to make new contacts. Attractions for young people included ski camps and bike hikes. A community of believers was established. Bittner started two weekly Bible studies for young people which grew to more than 40. Young people shared a meal together before their weekly meetings and had a chorale after the Monday night study. Bible studies were held for adults every other Friday night.

Describing his goal for the French Christians, Bittner related, "Our desire during the next term is to see the community take more concrete form with the French taking on responsibility and meeting regularly in their own or rented facilities."

'Celebration of Praise'

PV Council of Churches

Morgan Sly new president

The Rev. Morgan Sly was elected president of the Pomona Valley Council of Churches at its ninth annual Assembly today at Our Lady of the Assumption Roman Catholic Church in Claremont.

Sly is the pastor of the First Christian Church in Pomona, in which capacity he has served since September 1971. He has served the council for two years as vice president while at the same time serving as president of the Greater Pomona Housing Development Corporation.

During his term in this latter office, a proposal for building 164 units of housing for the elderly has successfully received funding and construction will soon start in Pomona. This organization has close ties to the council, since it developed as an offshoot of a social concerns conference which was sponsored by the council.

Other new council officers include: Dawn Hall, vice president; La Vurla Miller, secretary; Virgil Wilkinson, treasurer.

Department chairpersons are: business affairs, Harland Goodrich; Christian education, Charles Tryon; communications, Charles Allen; membership, Dr. Ralph Cobb; social concerns, Dr. Kurtis Naylor; and worship and public events, the Rev. Richard McPherson.

Tribute was paid to retiring president, the Rev. Leland Wilson, who, in the words of Executive Director Audrey Lightbody, has been instrumental in helping the council be an organization "come of age."

Wilson has worked untiringly to increase its financial support and make it an important entity in the life of the Pomona Valley. Highlighted in the program of the day was the presentation to Monsignor William Barry, pastor of the host church, the Ecumenical Service Award for outstanding service in presenting to the Pomona Valley his witness to the importance of the ecumenical movement, both in its local ramifications and in larger areas of outreach.

Barry led his congregation into becoming the first Roman Catholic church to become a full member of the council thus opening the way for other churches to join the body. In addition, he served as chairman of the 1975 Walk for the Hungry, which raised more than $34,000 to feed hungry people.

A time of rejoicing and celebration was a significant part of the program as the Rev. Charles Bennison, pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal Church and publicity person for the 1976 Walk for the Hungry, helped the group express thanksgiving to God for what He was able to do through dedicated walkers.

Participating in the program were three of the pastors of new churches welcomed into membership in the council including: the Rev. Melvin Langeland, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Pomona; the Rev. Bobby Edwards, pastor of the Upland Christian Church; and the Rev. Donald Webber, pastor of St. George Roman Catholic Church, Ontario.

Also received into membership were the Cucamonga United Methodist Church; San Dimas Community Church (UCC); St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church, Upland;

Health Tips

If you have swollen legs...

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

Swollen legs may be caused by a variety of conditions.

This common disorder may be the mechanical result of remaining on your feet — standing rather than moving about — for too long a time.

Or, at the opposite extreme, it may be associated in a complex way with disorders of the heart, blood vessels, kidneys or liver, which result in an abnormal retention of water in the body.

If you are a chronic sufferer from this uncomfortable disorder, there are two significant things to remember:

— Be sure that you report the condition to your doctor so that he or she can determine the underlying cause; — Assure yourself of at least temporary relief by certain simple measures which will help reduce the swelling (discussed later in this article).

Women suffer more from swollen legs than men do. This is particularly true during the premenstrual period and during pregnancy when there is a greater tendency toward the retention of all body fluids. The disorder particularly plagues persons who are overweight, and it is more common during hot weather.

If your legs swell at the end of the day, after spending hours standing or sitting without moving about from time to time, you may simply be experiencing the results of gravity at work as the blood and other fluids in your body accumulate at the body's lower levels.

Another common cause of swollen legs is varicose veins. Because the veins are functioning defectively, blood stagnates in the legs. As blood accumulates, pressure in the veins rises and fluid leaks from the veins into the surrounding tissues, causing a swelling. Abnormalities in the lymph channels throughout the legs can cause a similar swelling.

In some cases, swelling is related to the use of certain medications — such as cortisones, birth control pills and other hormones.

The first thing to do when you notice persistent swelling of the legs is to check with your doctor. He or she can determine whether the condition is related to a more generalized disease which should be treated.

Treatment — dietary restrictions, for example, or medication which promotes the excretion of urine — will often counteract the fluid retention and thus decrease the swelling. If the doctor finds that the swelling is a side effect of medication you are taking, he or she may want to modify your dosage.

Once you have been assured that your swollen legs are not symptoms of a more extensive health problem, you should follow practices which can prevent or alleviate swelling. For example, don't sit or stand in one position for prolonged periods; move around to keep your blood circulating. If you have a sedentary job, take a few minutes away from your desk during the day to stand up, stretch and walk around. While seated, elevate your legs from time to time, even if you prop them up only a few inches.

If you are taking a long automobile trip, stop every few hours and walk around. On a plane trip, pace the aisle a few times to keep yourself active.

Some people have the mistaken idea that wearing elastic stockings cures swollen legs. This is not true, but they do provide relief and should be tried unless your doctor specifically instructs you not to.

In some people the leg swelling develops so gradually that they are scarcely aware of it. If you find your shoes are getting too tight or if the flesh around your ankles retains a dent when pressed firmly with the finger, swelling is present and you should seek its cause.

Safety tips for Halloween noted

Halloween should be a happy occasion for children but it can prove to be dangerous if basic safety precautions aren't followed, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California.

To help avoid some of the perils, the Auto Club has listed several reminders for motorists, parents and homeowners.

"Drivers should be extremely alert for children darting back and forth across the street," said Robert J. Cheney, the club's public safety manager. "Under normal circumstances, children are rarely the most cautious pedestrians and the excitement of 'trick-or-treating' makes them even less careful."

Motorists should assume extra responsibility to avert danger on Halloween night, he stressed. For example, headlights should be in good working order and properly adjusted. Car brakes should be capable of bringing the car to an immediate stop. Be cautious and expect the unexpected.

He recommends against wearing dark-colored costumes, because they are difficult to see at night; any fabric that's not flameproof; masks or headgear that obstruct vision or breathing; and sharp-pointed objects, such as toy swords and pitchforks.

If children are determined to wear a dark costume, Cheney advises parents to decorate it with reflectorized tape or paint. The luminous, "ghostly" glow will make it visible at night to the motorist. It's also a good idea for trick-or-treaters to carry a flashlight, so they can "see and be seen."

Whenever possible, Cheney said, a responsible adult should accompany the youngsters. If not, parents should arrange for their children to go in a group, with a clear understanding of when they're expected back home. They should be cautioned to obey traffic signals and cross streets only at intersections.

He suggests that parents warn their young masqueraders not to enter a stranger's home under any circumstances.

Japanese dish

Prepare
Sukiyaki

Along with technology and science, the Japanese have absorbed some of the culinary habits of the Western world — especially the eating of meat. Formerly, Buddhist regulations forbade meat consumption but gradually this concept was abandoned and beef, pork and chicken were added to Japanese cuisine. Beef, in particular, has become a staple of the Japanese diet. It is the principal ingredient in the most internationally famous dish of Japanese cuisine — Sukiyaki.

The Japanese cook and serve sukiyaki at the table for all to see. This custom can easily be carried on in the American home with the help of an electric frypan or heavy skillet over a hot plate. (Or just prepare the dish in the kitchen and serve with fluffy white rice.)

Before cooking sukiyaki, assemble all the ingredients on a platter — strips of beef sirloin; thin slices of onion, fresh mushrooms, celery, water chestnuts and scallions, bean sprouts and fresh spinach. Combine cornstarch, sugar and soy sauce and set aside.

In electric skillet, heat peanut oil. Quickly brown meat on both sides. Stir in onion, mushrooms, bean sprouts, celery, water chestnuts and scallions; cook for 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Pack spinach into skillet. Cover; cook 3 minutes longer. Stir to mix well. Pour soy sauce mixture into skillet. Cook and stir until sauce is thickened. Serve immediately with hot cooked rice and additional soy sauce, if desired.

three minutes longer. Pour soy sauce mixture into skillet, cook until thickened and serve immediately with hot cooked rice. In just a matter of minutes you can cook a delicious Japanese meal for the whole family to enjoy.

Sukiyaki
Makes 4 servings

1/2 pound sliced fresh mushrooms

1 can (16-ounce) bean sprouts, drained
1/2 cup diagonally sliced celery
1/4 cup sliced water chestnuts
1/4 cup sliced scallions
1 package (10-ounce) fresh spinach, washed and trimmed
Hot cooked rice
Combine cornstarch, sugar and soy sauce; set aside.

Lo-cal goodies
for Halloween

So it's fall and you would love to have a Halloween Party but you're concerned about all the rich fattening goodies that you are expected to serve. You can't afford the extra calories. (Actually your friends probably can't either.)

Al Cutler, director of Weight Watchers of Orange, San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties, has the answer with special recipes for that party that's fun, easy, tasty and won't add unwanted pounds.

The following "treats" should do the "trick."

Apple Sticks
6 medium apples
3 pints low-calorie black cherry soda
4 tablespoons unflavored gelatine

Polish apples. Insert skewers or small wooden sticks into the center of each apple. Bring 2 cups of low-calorie soda to the boiling point. Mix with gelatine. Stir briskly until gelatine is dissolved, then add remaining soda. Chill until mixture is slightly thickened and syrupy. (Refrigerate if necessary to maintain this consistency.) Dip each apple in gelatine mixture (be sure to immerse completely). Chill apples in refrigerator until gelatine coating on them is set. Then dip again into slightly thickened gelatine. Chill until coating on apples is set. Continue dipping and chilling until coating is about 1/4" thick. (Dip about 4-6 times.)

Chill until ready to serve. Makes 6 servings.

Apple-Pumpkin Cookies
1 apple, grated
4 ounces pumpkin
2/3 cup nonfat dry milk
2 tablespoons artificial brown sugar replacement
1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon butter flavoring

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Thoroughly combine all ingredients. Drop by tablespoon on a non-stick cookie sheet. Bake at 325 degree for about 30 minutes. Makes about 16 cookies.

Orange Ambrosia
4 oranges
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Artificial sweetener to equal 1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Section oranges. Work over a bowl to catch the juice; place sections in same bowl. Sprinkle with lemon juice, sweetener and cinnamon. Chill thoroughly. Serve topped with Creme Coconut.
Makes 4 servings.

Creme Coconut
3/4 teaspoon unflavored gelatine
1 teaspoon cold water
1/4 cup boiling water
1/4 cup evaporated skim milk
Artificial sweetener to equal 1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon coconut extract
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Sprinkle gelatine over cold water. Add to boiling water; stir until gelatine dissolves. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Meanwhile, chill evaporated skim milk in freezer until ice crystals begin to form around the edge. Add sweetener and coconut extract. Beat at high speed of mixer until mixture is stiff and the consistency of whipped cream. Chill in freezer. Chill in freezer 1 hour. Makes 1 cup.

- When leaving a camp fire, you should:
 - Let it go out alone.
 - Stamp out the embers.
 - Flood the fire with water.
- When lighting a gas oven, the oven door should be opened.
 - Before the gas is turned on.
 - After the gas is turned on.

ANSWERS

1. C. To be sure the fire is out, the ashes should be stirred and the first dousing should be repeated. 2. B. If the gas is turned on and the match is inserted, the flame may flash back in your face when the door is opened. The correct action is to wait until the gas is turned on, then light the match.
